Brown School Welcomes New Principal

Dear Parents/Guardians

At this time, we wish to share news of another important change at Brown P.S. for September 2010.

We have all accepted Jane Giuliani's decision to retire as a much-loved and well-respected principal of this great school. Your generosity in thanking her and sending her to the next adventure with some sadness and much hope has been heart-felt and welcomed. We all understand and value the amazing contributions she has brought to this school.

As Jane moves on, we had the opportunity to welcome Ms. Jacqueline Goh, an experienced and dedicated principal; many of you had the opportunity to meet informally with her.

One measure of her excellence is that just recently, she has been invited to join the TDSB centrally as a Central Coordinating Principal of Academic Achievement. This central position offers both a promotion opportunity and a chance to use her skills in the wider arena of the TDSB. We wish her well.

However, with Jacqueline's promotion, we are very pleased to announce the promotion of Lorraine Shafransky to the role of principal at Brown School. Ms. Shafransky brings a wealth of experience as vice-principal at Forest Hill Junior and Senior Public School and at Davisville Jr. /Sr. School. She is a former teacher at Brown PS. In all these roles, she brings a detailed knowledge of our community, our Family of Schools and the needs of our students in St. Paul's. Known for her warmth, dedication and focus on student achievement for all, we are confident that she will provide strong and focused leadership to sustain and grow this excellent school.

Please join with us in welcoming Lorraine Shafransky, who will join Vice-principal Sonja Litner and the outstanding staff at Brown P.S. in supporting and engaging our students and community.
